Sarah's family has been feuding with the Barretts for generations. The feud began over a stolen horse, but it has since escalated into a bitter and deadly rivalry. Sarah's father was killed by a Barrett, and her brother is now in prison for killing a Barrett in self-defense.

Despite the danger, Sarah is determined to break the cycle of violence. She knows that the feud is hurting her community, and she is tired of living in fear. With the help of a sympathetic sheriff and a courageous lawyer, Sarah sets out to confront the Barretts and put an end to the feud.

About the Author

Lauran Paine is an award-winning author of historical western novels. She has a deep love for the history and culture of the American Southwest, and her writing reflects her passion for this unique region.

Lauran lives in Arizona with her husband and two children. She is an avid hiker and horseback rider, and she enjoys spending time outdoors in the beautiful Sonoran Desert.
